We,
the Class of 1983,
Dedicate
This Yearbook
to Chris Butler

There were three main reasons why we chose to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Butler. First of all, he is a great teacher. His way of describing rather than lecturing got the whole class involved in the subject matter. He taught us games: we were Mesopotamian kings as subs and feudal lords when freshmen. Secondly, he really helped us through our years at Uni. He was our class sponsor for several years and took us on exciting and enlightening field trips. He also was — and is — a terrific chess club sponsor. The last reason is that he is a wonderful guy and a dedicated teacher. Whether visiting the gift shop in a Chicago museum or discussing the geopolitics of Medieval Europe, time spent with Mr. Butler is neither a bore nor a waste.

Thank you Mr. Butler, for all you've been and done.

EVENTS

HOWDY HOP

The Howdy Hop gave all the subs a chance to enter the wild night life. Julie McMillan and Maggie Williams organized it. The Senior Class sponsored it. Even though we already knew each other, we all had a great time.

Shagg Makino organized the Thanksgiving Dance. The music was great; Shagg didn't take advantage of his position as Disc Jockey and inflict his music on us!

TURKEY TROT

Halloween Dance

The Halloween Dance was held in the North Attic. Stephanie Wengert did terrific planning and Bill Walker began his career as a disc jockey. Everyone had a blast dressing up. Some of the great costumes that night included a cow, an Indian, a flapper, and a bro. The Halloween Dance was one of the best dances this year, and everyone had a lot of fun.

Lisa in distress

Fall Play THE GOOD DOCTOR

This year, the fall play was Neil Simon's "The Good Doctor," an adaptation of the Russian short stories by Anton Chekhov. Peter McDowell played the main character, or narrator, and Sally French was the director. Her patience and even temper enabled the cast to produce a terrific show, and have lots of fun!

THE SNEEZE

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Annual Surprise Christmas Party was surprisingly fun this year! The Madrigals carolled the classes through tyhr halls and to the gym, where the party began. The Seniors gave their teachers Christmas presents, which included a whip for Mrs. Wheeler, a big kiss for our new Consumer Law professor, and a party for out most enthusiastic teacher, Pat. Dr. Purves read a different Christmas story! The teachers; skits were as cute as ever, and Mr. Butler played a convincing Santa. The English department played rebellious rock 'N' rollers, and Mr. Royer and Mr. McCollom wound up with pies in their faces. HO HO HO.

Madrigals perform at the gym.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

The Christmas Dance was held in the Illini Union. The Band "Breezin'" played. A great crowd showed up, with a good mix from all classes. During the dance, the band members got tired of singing and let Aleya Rahman and Shagg Makino take over. They were too shy, so Joel Crammes and Rachel Peters serenaded each other. A good time was had by all.

Pep Rally

The cheerleaders raised school spirit throughout the year with pep rallies. Any unspirited cheerleader was immediately sent to the infamous SPIRIT BOX. Any unspirited fan was shot at sunrise. Students were encouraged to "get rowdy," and cheer on all of our teams.

"GET ROWDY!"

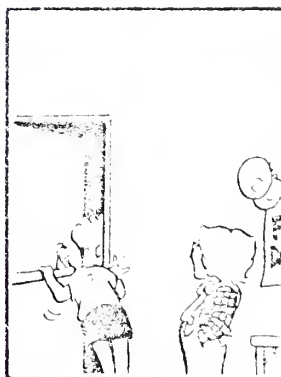

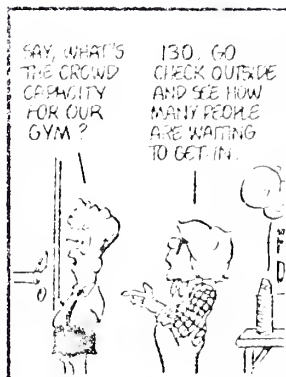

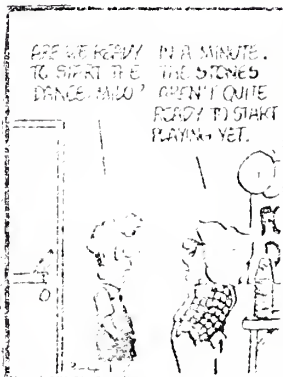

Shagg and Joe Sparkle 'n Shine

Homecoming was celebrated this year for the first time in about twenty years. To honor the occasion, the cheerleaders held a pep-rally and a dance. The theme was "Get Rowdy," and most students did. Mike McCollom got Bill Wells from WLRW to DJ the dance and the crowd was treated to a special tape of the Vertebrats.

FACULTY

ADMINISTRATION

Warren Royer was our principal.

Ann Hurrelbrink was the staff stenographer.

Sue Winking was the executive secretary.

June Mank managed the school's books.

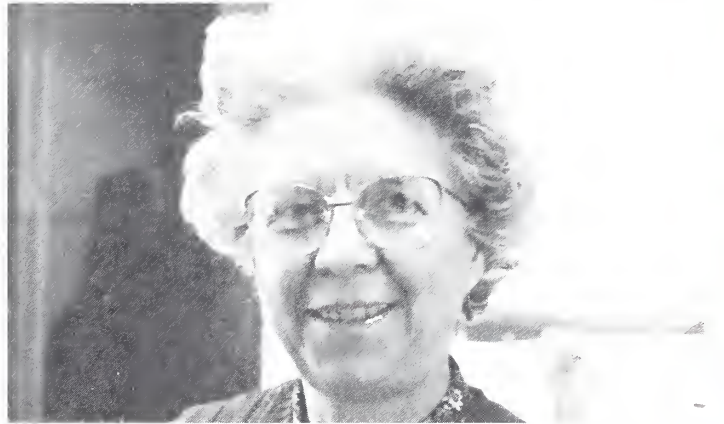

Joel Cram, Vice-Principal, put out the monthly newsletter.

ENGLISH

Bernadette Feeney taught Subbie English and was the yearbook advisor.

Charle Tibbetts handled the subs and headed the Humanities Department.

Liz Baker taught the sophomores and lived to smile about it.

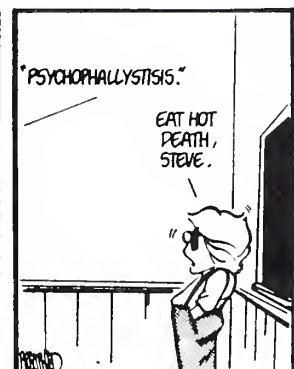

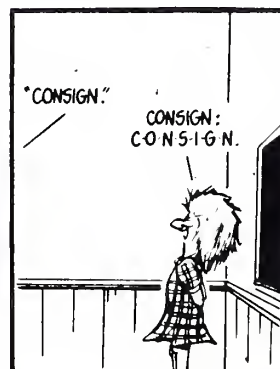

Barbara Gutowsky taught Junior English.

Adele Suslick "shared" information with the Senior English classes.

Sally French taught Freshman English and was the drama sponsor.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Carol Bond headed the French Department and taught French III and IV.

Nancy Hans taught Latin I and II.

Anita Hittle taught French I.

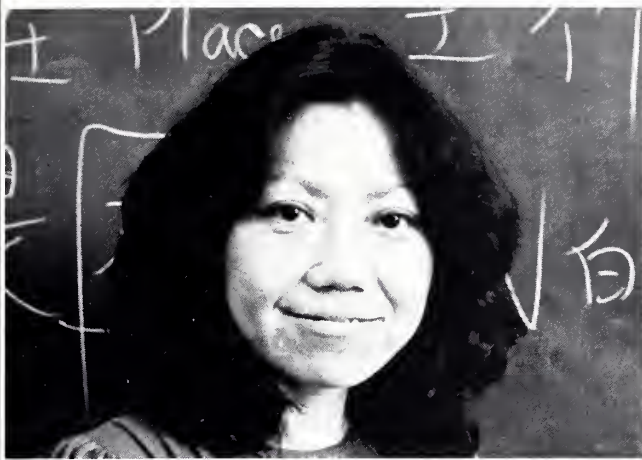

Bernard Norcott taught Latin III.

Connie Curtin taught Russian I and II and did research on Apple Computers.

Detlev Pansch ran the Language Lab.

Paula Rohrbach taught Chinese.

Stan Shinall taught French II.

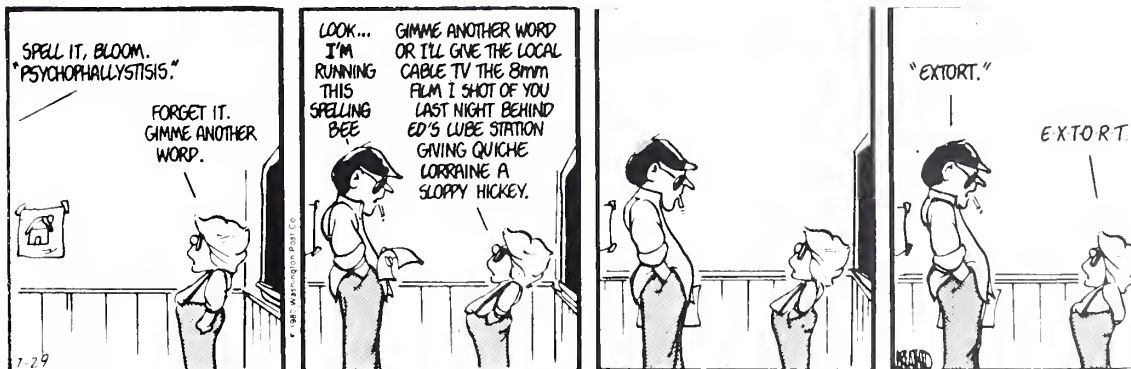

William MacDonald started the Chinese course.

Gera Millar taught Russian III and IV.

Alicia Henry taught all German classes and sponsored German Club.

RESEARCH

Alan Purves taught Creative Writing, sponsored Unique, and was Director of the Curriculum Lab.

Pat Bandy was the secretary for the Curriculum Lab.

Elaine Degenhart was involved in the International Writing Project.

Sauli Takala was involved in a research program.

Beulah Brown helped teach Creative Writing.

SCIENCE

Ray Boehmer taught Subbie Science and Senior Science.

Winsor Naugler III taught Physics and wore earrings.

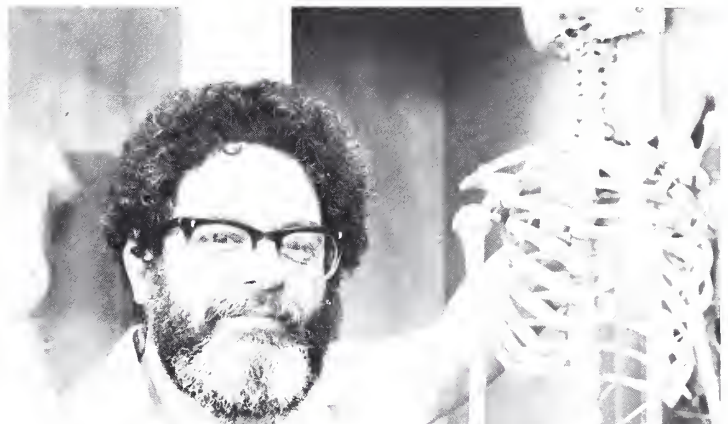

Gayle Holmgren taught Freshman Biology.

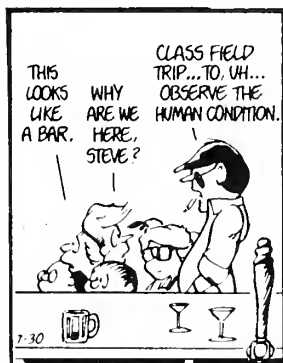

Ruth Poling-Kinder taught Chemistry and Advanced Chemistry.

Sonja Williams taught Biology to the freshmen.

Dr. Peter Shoresman taught subbies and seniors with Ray.

Peter Kimble taught Computer Science and Advanced Computer Science.

Richard Murphy was the choral director.

Cecil Pretty was the music director.

Adrienne Hoard taught subs and seniors about Art.

Susan Welch, Katy Craver, and Alison Dunanian took good care of the library.

Rachel Peter's steady nerves helped her survive teaching Driver's Education.

Carmen Brown taught Typing.

John Turner, the janitor, cleaned up the school.

COUNSELING

Jeff Hollowell helped the seniors with college applications and counseled the underclassmen.

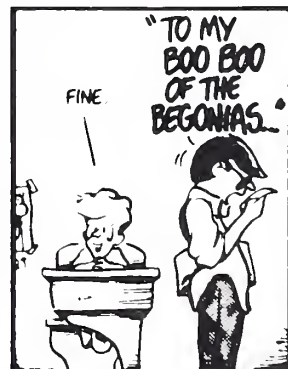

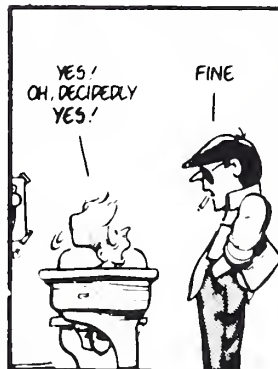

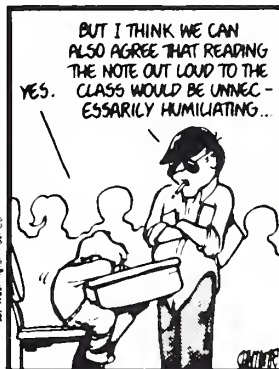

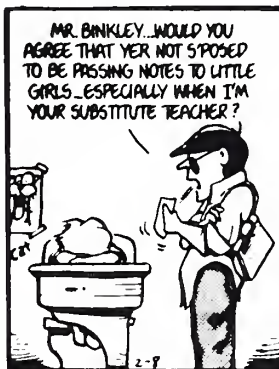

Karen Moon put up with all the seniors' college applications and the subbie applications as well.

LuAnn Smith once again directed counseling.

Judy Shipp helped seniors out with scholarships.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Cori Rizzo headed P.E. and coached the Gymnastics team.

Mike McCollom was Athletic Director, taught senior P.E., and "dared to excel."

Guy Dirkin taught P.E. and entertained us with his English accent.

Kathy Hughes taught P.E., sponsored Gargoyle, and was in charge of intramurals.

Jay Cline sponsored the Cheerleaders and taught P.E.

Ruth Wortis taught P.E., and showed us all how to wiggle right.

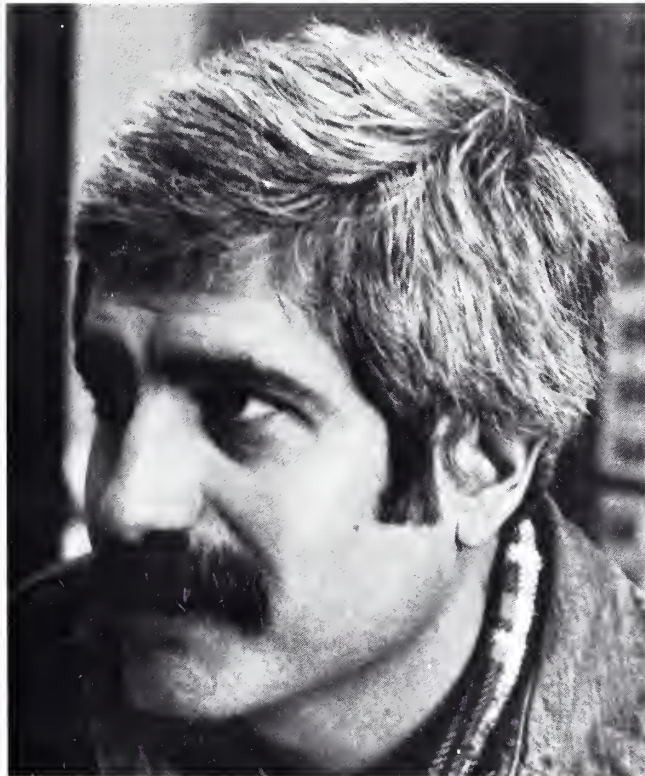

MATH

Jackie Ruesh taught Calculus I and math to the freshmen and subbies.

Robert Davis taught Calculus II to the seniors and Alex Wong.

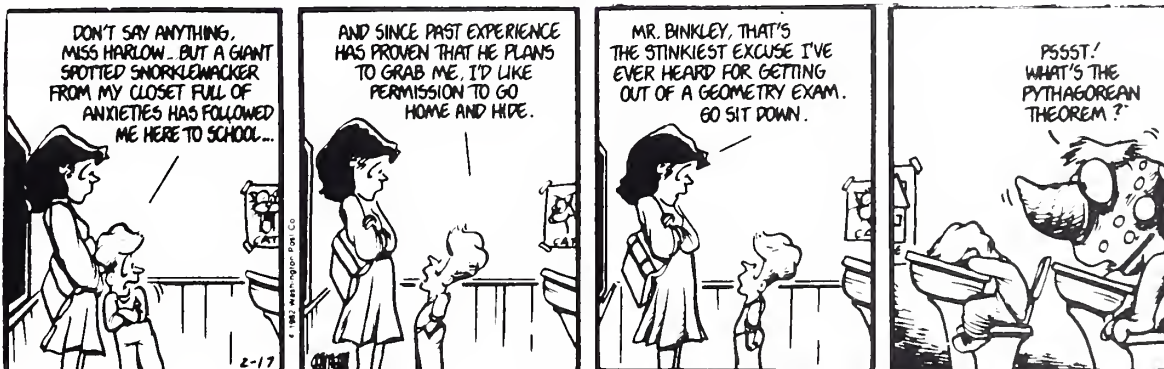

Pat McLoughlin taught Geometry and Calc. I. He also sponsored the Senior class.

Carol Erb was the secretary in the Math Department.

Diane Sharp taught the subs and freshmen math.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Ricka Shorish taught East Asian History 2nd Semester.

Kathy Syverson taught the Sophomores everything about Geography.

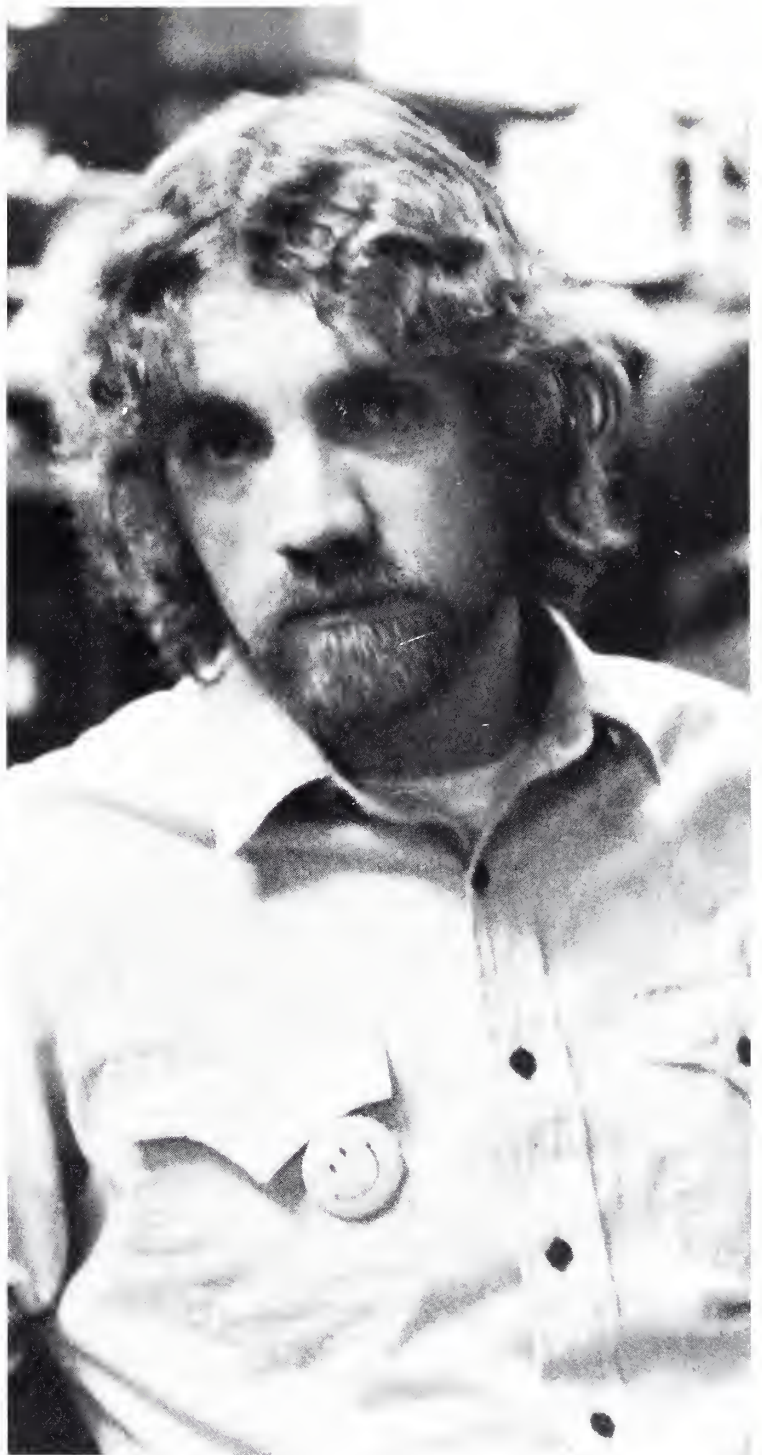

Joanne Wheeler pounded U.S. History into the Juniors.

Cheryl Sullivan taught Freshman Social Studies.

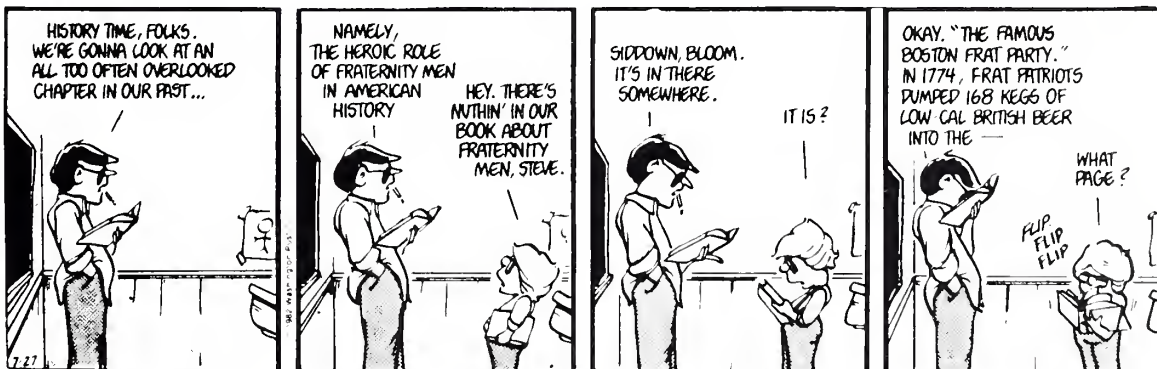

Paul Thurston taught Consumer Law to some adoring seniors.

Chris Butler taught European History to the subbies and freshmen and sponsored Big Show.

Julia Schmidt graced the seniors with her smiles while teaching Consumer Law.

Student Council held its traditional Monday lunchtime meetings, and accomplished quite a bit this year, taking Uni's impoverished state into their own hands. They led many fund raising crusades such as the Real Wisconsin Cheese and Sausage Drive. The faculty sponsor was Mr. Crames.

The Executive Committee exists for organizational reasons — to make the administrative decisions for Student Council. The Officers this year were: Carol Sudman, President; Julie McMillan, Vice-President; Maggie Williams, Treasurer; Amy Swarr, Secretary; and Aleya Rahman, Parliamentarian. The Finance Committee, made up of all the student treasurers, manages the financial situation.

Gargoyle is the school newspaper, which was co-edited by Amy Swarr and Monica Rondon first semester. They put out more issues than we had previously been used to, and filled them with informative and interesting articles. Miss Hughes was the sponsor. The second semester editors were Kenyon West, Arnold Rudnick, and Rick Burkhardt. Rick will take over the task next year when Kenyon and Arnold have graduated.

UNIQUE

Unique is the school's literary magazine. This year, it was organized by Cherie Travis and Sheryl Stecyk. It was nurtured under the protective wing of Dr. Purves, the creative writing teacher. All students are encouraged to contribute their talents to the magazine.

PHOTO- GRAPHERS

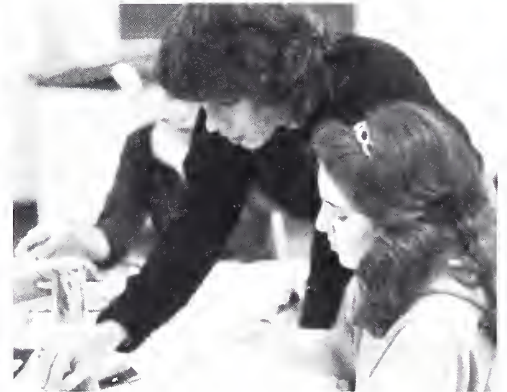

Under the director of editor Chris DeCardy and sponsor Miss Feeny, this year's staff managed to get a great yearbook out on time. We had a super staff that worked hard to meet all the deadlines.

YEARBOOK

The yearbook photographers did a great job of being at all the events and getting good pictures. They also put in a lot of time in the darkroom.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The purpose of the International Club is to expose students to foreign cultures. The club holds cooking and other culturally enriching events, and profits are donated to charities. Naomi Wortis was President.

The German Club is made up of Uni's German students. Frau Henry is the sponsor. The members hold many bake sales to pay for their culturally enriching experiences.

AGORA WEEK

Agora Week Co-Chairmen Ed Blumenthal and Mindy Averbuch

The job of the Lounge Committee is to maintain order in the student hang-out, The Lounge. The co-chairmen were Becky Davidson and Stephi Wengert. Monica Rondon was the Treasurer; Julie McMillan was the Secretary.

The Agora Week committee was co-chaired by Ed Blumenthal and Mindy Averbuch, who led the crusade for our five days of exploratory classes. They were assisted by their hard-working committee: Peter McDowell, David Darling, Chris DeCardy, Joe Kim, Richard Williams, Eugenia Chow, and Alice Liu.

MILK COMMITTEE

The Milk Committee is responsible for selling us milk every day so that we can become big, strong boys and girls. The head of the Milk Committee was Liz Paley.

This year's cross-country team surprised many people, including themselves. Early in the season, Coach Mike McCollom was quoted as saying that this year's team was "average," not knowing that the selfsame team was to finish third at district and a strong eighth at sectionals — the strongest finish by a University High Cross-Country team in over a decade. At sectionals, Shagg Makino finished 23rd, Thomas Leslie 44th, Chris DeCardy 52nd, David Johnson 71st, Mike Blossom 72nd, and Herbert Schonken 73rd. They Boys' team was lead by the fivesome of Makino, Schonken, DeCardy, Leslie, and Derek Chen. Our inspiration and dedication was derived from the hard work of Joe "Duke" Kim and Larry "Faint" Thompson. Junior Greg Laughlin will be next year's Team Captain. The Girls' team made major strides forward from last year — they existed. However, not only did they exist, they managed to perform very well throughout the season, finishing 3rd at Paxton and an awesome 2nd at Bismark-Henning. The Girls' team was led by Freshman Sophia Neely, always in the top ten, followed by Seniors Angie Johnson, Julie McMillan, and Valli Plog, and Freshmen Melinda Chen and Sarena Heumann. All in all, the 1982 Cross-Country season was a very successful one for the twenty boys and six girls on the team. Special thanks goes to Assistant Coach Carrie Race.

BOYS AND GIRLS TRACK AND FIELD

Last year's Boys' Track team won the Kickapoo Conference, and the Girls' team was a strong second. This year, the Conference Meet will once again be held in Memorial Stadium. Both teams plan to better last year's performances. The Girls' team lost only 3 people, and gained many new runners; likewise, the boys gained new talent. Leading the pack for the Boys' team are co-captains Chris DeCardy and Shagg Makino. The Girls' captains are Maggie Williams and Angie Johnson. This year, for the first time, the Track team plans to include five indoor meets at the beginning of the season.

"The team should be an extension of the coach's personality. My team is arrogant and obnoxious." — Al McGuire

Michael McCollom came to University High four years ago. Since then, he has made major strides in improving the athletic image of our school. Since he has been here, both the Boys' and Girls' Track and Cross Country teams have won the Conference title for the first time in many years. He has also sent several runners to State level competitions. He continues to be a great help and a very good friend.

Uni's first swim team was very successful. After starting over one month late because of organizational problems, we were able to get seven girls together and our coach was Alan Ledgin. Because we started so late, we weren't able to schedule any dual meets. However, we placed well at our District meet, with Freshman Sheila Findley going on to finish fourth at the State Meet. Although we didn't have much pool time, our team finished 6th out of 17 teams at Districts.

FALL ATHLETIC BANQUET

The First Annual Fall Athletic Banquet, held at Uni Gym, was very successful. Cross Country, Swimming, and Soccer teams were honored by the coaches, faculty, and parents. Basketball, Track, Cheerleading, and Gymnastics were honored at a similar banquet in the Spring.

Everyone enjoyed the food.

GIRLS GYMNASTICS

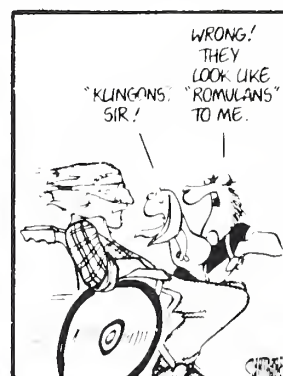

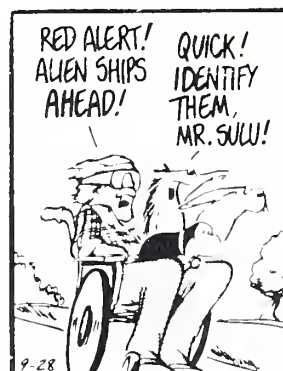

Coached by Corri Rizzo, the gymnastics team worked hard all year, and performed at many meets. They even hosted two home meets. The captain was Brenda Brinkerhoff, who performed strongly all season. Other members were: Kathy Mills, Rebecca Swarr, Alix Wengert, Ursula Hess, Elaine Yang, Ella Schoeneberg, Alice Lee, and Katy Marino. Angie Friedman, an Uni Alumna, assisted Mrs. Rizzo with the team.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The 1982-83 Basketball team at Uni High got off to a disappointing start, but kept steadily improving throughout the season. The core of the Varsity team consisted of seniors Chris DeCardy, Shagg Makino, Dan Teitelbaum, and Alan Yang; juniors Mike Blossom and Matt Kolodziej; and sophomore Larry Thompson.

Because of the lack of varsity experience, the squad worked hard to learn its roles and as a result, surprised many teams with their good, consistent play. Behind captain Chris DeCardy, the team made a good showing at each of its home basketball games. With two close games against Kickapoo Conference rivals Wapella and Tri-Valley, the team received much-needed support and recognition from the public.

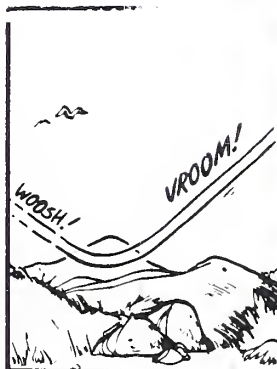

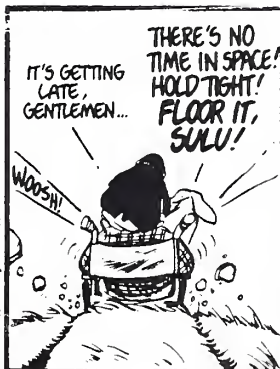

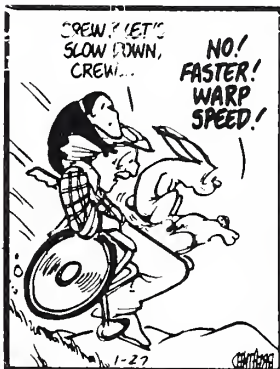

All in all, the squad really came together and put together a very good season.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity team was coached by Tom Billeter. This was his first season here and he did a good job. The team was led by Dave McCord and Eric Giles. Many seniors such as John Brewer, Steve Ekker, Joe Kim and Opher Donchin also helped the team. Although the team didn't win any games this year, they tried very hard.

SUBFRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The 1982-83 subfreshman basketball team was marked with the distinction of being the only co-ed team in the sixth and seventh grade Urbana Park District League. While other teams periodically viewed this as a difficulty, the thirteen Uni basketball players had no problem establishing a positive team spirit; each player consistently gave his/her all. Unfortunately, injuries prevented Ed Giles and Libby Miericke from finishing out the season. Beginning the year with primarily inexperienced members, Coach Greg Walters proudly noted that the group became a team demonstrating talent.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

With a great coach, Mr. Pat McLoughlin, the Uni High Girls' Basketball Team did their best and worked hard. The team was captained by Jana Kramer and Alice Liu, and during the season the team improved a lot under their guidance. Sophia, Jana, Erin, Suzy, and Robin did an excellent job under the basket while Alice, Sadie, Denise, and Linda were great as guards. Everyone tried their best. Overall, the girls feel good about their '82-83 season.

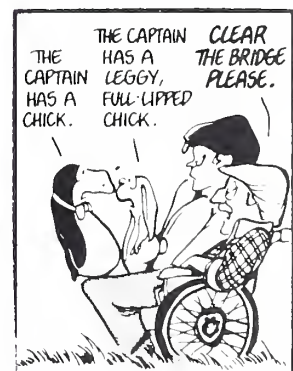

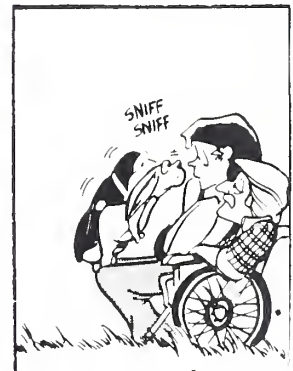

Coach McLaughlin discusses strategies.

CHEERLEADERS

At the beginning of the year, it looked like Uni would only have four cheerleaders. However, they got it together and came up with a squad of twelve. The cheerleaders were responsible for encouraging fans to come to all the athletic events. They kept school spirit up all year long at cross-country meets, track meets, and basketball games. A few of them even managed to get spirited during the national anthem. Jay Cline sponsored the cheerleaders, and Monica Rondon was the captain. They all had a lot of fun organizing Uni's very first Homecoming to raise money for athletics.

Bottom Row: Andrew Stewart, John Walker, Todd Walker, Dan Teitelbaum, Kelly Fitz, Colin Garrett, Paul Johnson. Not Pictured: Leo Millar, Chris Lopez.

The Uni High Soccer Team showed great improvement this fall. Captains Paul Johnson and Andrew Stewart, with occasional help from Opher Donchin, managed to successfully coach the team through the season, despite their lack of coaching experience. The team put forth great effort this season, and hopes that the work will result in the formation of a Varsity Soccer Team.

Co-Captains: Paul Johnson and Andrew Stewart; Most Improved Player: John Walker.

Class History

Sub year, we enter Uni not knowing what is to come. Mr. Young dazzles us with his earring, and repulses us with granola hanging from his beard. We're kicked out of the halls and into the "subbie lounge," but children will be children, and we destroy it, too. Chris and Maggie become our first couple and Alan and Meena follow suit. Shagg starts his playgirl mustache. Bridge becomes the "fave" pastime for us Subbies. Stephi and Chris become an item, and we get our first glimpse of P. D. A. Maggie and Meena start their clique, Brenda and Stephi start theirs, and the ensuing disputes prove brutal. Combat boots are sabotaged with Vienna sausage. PQ. All dances become emotional y trying (sob). Amy and Shagg? Carol and Jennifer sing. Ed T. tries to blow up the science lab. We frolic about Allerton, and our guys get their first experience in X-Country running. At dances, John becomes "Disco Kid," and Joe "King Tut." Mrs. Scholnik teaches us about Mickius and Minnius Disneyus. Abraham comes and leaves. Dan journeys to Israel, leaving grease and broken hearts in his wake.

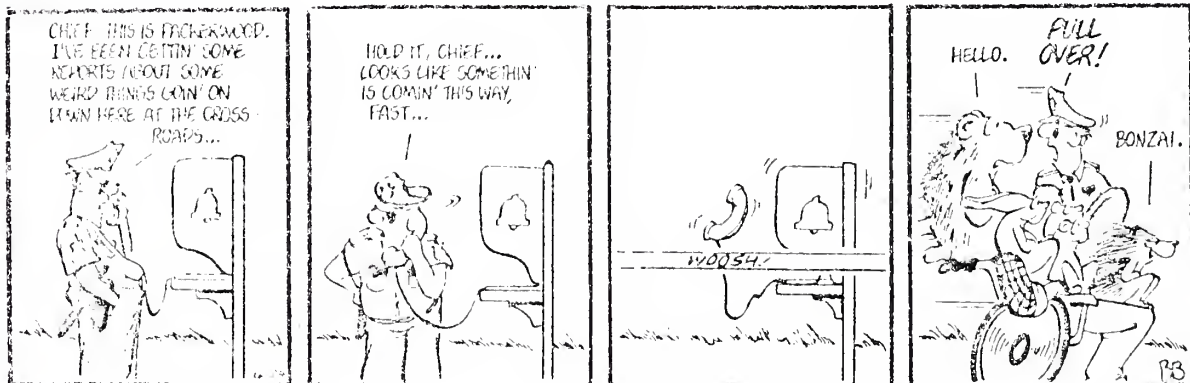

Freshman year, we lose Ed T., Jason, Jeff, Heidi, Lisa, and Chris L. Allison leaves also, but her winter coat lingers on. Dan returns, but hearts have mended. We gain Mindy, Andrew, Steve, and Ajay. Mrs. Perrin teaches us to "be still." Fickle Finger of Fate. Brenda and Ajay hit it off from the start. Ian begins his crush on Monica. Meena shocks us all when she wears heels. Maggie and Chris go together, Maggie and Chris break up, Maggie and Chris go together . . . Angie and Claire live at Skateland. Some of the girls become cheerleaders, and think we're hot stuff. We gain another student — Mike McCollom. We become the "Freshman Girls." Gasper and Bill take the eye out of a fetal pig. Will Ray ever find his quadruple-X woman? Clarita starts gossiping, and never stops. We win our first Varsity and JV games! David, Steve, John, and Lynn live in dungeons with dragons. Valli and Farrah. Lima Bean. Valli, Julie, and Maggie grow up, and go to the upperclassman prom. Brian showers Aleya with flowers. Maggie and soggy bread. Shawn teaches us about sex in the seventeenth century, the eighteenth century, etc. . . . Ajay attacks anything slightly female. Girls' Track wins Conference, thanks partly to the Freshman Girls.

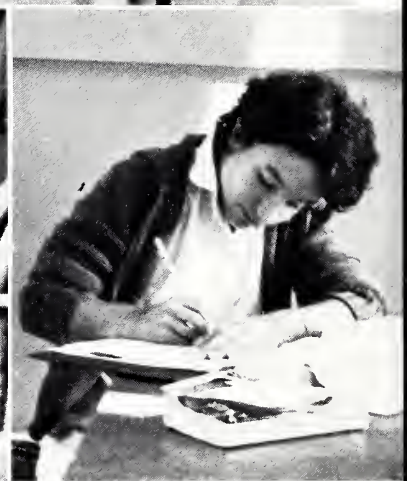

Sophomore year, we lose Brian, Yolanda, Meena, and Ajay. Chris L. comes back from Germany, but can't speak German. Gasper loses weight, gains Aleya, and makes good. We gain Gila. Carol, Julie, Stephi, Aleya, and Jennifer discover "older men." We become Mrs. Baker's psychiatrists. Pat spreads his mellowness. Shagg disappoints all of us, and goes with a Willie Nelson lookalike. Chris, Shagg, Joe, and Alan are surgically attached at the head. Bill takes out his frustrations on the piano. Lucia comes to us from Italy. We all become BOOFS. Liz contributes her musical talents to school productions. Mr. Dwyer mistakes Amy for Dolly Parton and Kenyon for John Schneider, and calls Opher his class mentor. He xeroxes his fingers, loses countries, and throws us his cashmere coat. His was the lucky class! Mrs. Johnson teaches the rest of us about bathing in Thailand. We learn who the most famous Bengali poet is! Gasper gets suspended — twice. Andrea becomes a sophomore. We catch Laurie at a dance. No one "opts" to take the optional math final. Ian is now obsessed with Monica. Angie is a spazz. Our second camping trip includes millet rice and strip poker. Gasper threatens to jump in a lake. Marana and Amy become Gargoyle editors. Bill starts the tradition of his class parties.

Junior year, we lose Lynn, Andrew, Gasper, and Vicky. We gain Kathy. Valli goes punk. Dan goes wild over Naomi's grey pants. Shagg's 'assets' rise to fame. Brenda turns black. We love Mindy to devout Judaism. Dan plays with Mrs. Gutowsky's mind. Sheryl keeps four men in the wings. Steve, Ed, and Chris L. monopolize the PLATO terminals. Some of the guys check out the underclassman girls. Alan does his Evil Kenevil impersonation. Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Wheeler . . . Laurie is our class president, but nobody cares. Chris falls in love with Michelle's heels and Monica's rainbow belt. Dan asks Clarita to prom? The school acquires a new inside joke — Pre-Calc. Will Uni close? Paul turns to gymnastics to escape Thailand. Julie's into yellow. The soccer team scores a goal. Our class tries Mr. C.'s Christian patience. Mr. C. informs the girls that guys are only after one thing. Second semester, he is disgusted and leaves. We gain Winsor Naugler III, who gives us the option of whether or not to come to class. Most of us decide not to. He doesn't believe in failing, and we try not to disappoint him. Pat gives Cherie the Distinguished Laugh Award. Angie thinks "it's" gross. Boys' Track wins Conference in Memorial Stadium.

Senior year, we lose Laurie, Marana, and Chuck. Andrew and Vicky have returned. We pray we don't get state aid — we don't want to take 5 hours of classes a day. In fact, most of us don't anyway. We can't wait to GRADUATE!!! Senior P.E. has the world's first 8-legged shortstop. Many get a taste of the rich life — as chauffeurs. SWAK! SWAK! BLBLBLBLBL. SCUUU! The Stoughton Street parking spaces are filled with senior cars. Dr. Davis thinks we know a lot about this. Joe wants to be all that he can be. John and Steve become basketball studs. Ed and Mindy lead the crusade for Agora Week. Mrs. Wheeler still haunts us in the halls. We quickly acquire the healthy attitude of "senioritis." Seniors get acquainted with U of I classes. Dr. Paul — baby is a doll, and we become Junior Lawyers. The Meaning of Life = Debate. The class gets a 4+ (but we can pull it up to a 5 with a little work). The undergrad becomes the new senior hangout. Some lucky seniors get to take Driver's Ed. with Miss Peters. Jennifer and Dan? Angie, Kathy, and Clarita join the "Omegas." A bunch of girls become cheerleaders once again. Mrs. S. prepares us for college. We're sure that Brenda is still in our class, but nobody ever sees her. Junior girls fall for Andrew, and the wallpaper club falls for Joe. Jim plays go-fish on PLATO. We sell REAL Wisconsin Cheese and Sausage. One last thing before we go: we're just . . . COOL.

CLASS WILL

I, Edward Blumenthal, leave my sense of humor to Felix Ortony, who can't afford to be taken seriously.

I, John Brewer, leave the title of Resident Computer Jock and a matching pair of socks to Colin Garrett.

I, Jennifer Bright, leave my common sense to Michelle Jolly, and my admiration to Rebecca Swarr for her ability to smile through anything.

I, Brenda Brinkerhoff, leave my love, admiration and respect to my favorite coach and my substitute "mom," Cori Rizzo.

I, James Brown, leave my great ability as Soul King to Bobs Winter.

I, David Darling, in order to make a point to Mrs. Tibbetts and a certain playwright, am going to take it with me when I go.

I, Chris DeCardy, leave my size 11 basketball shoes, my love for cross-country, and all my respect to Mike Blossom.

I, Opher Donchin, leave the sex appeal that I got from Steve Schran, and which he got from Dov Cole, to John Walker, and my ability to annoy teachers to Michelle Jolly, who needs it.

I, Steve Ekker, give to John Walker my knowing senior class status for the duration of his stay at Uni.

I, Jackie Faiman, leave my ability to put things off to the last minute to those who could stay at Uni.

I, Vicky Getis, leave my library job, which I received under the title "anyone desperate to take it" to Peter McDowell, and my ability to prolong silly discussions to Sarah Baldwin.

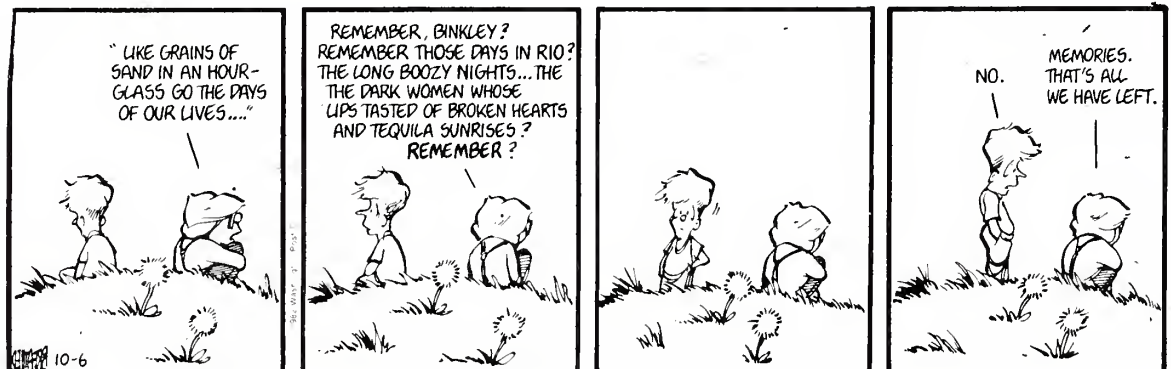

I, Angie Johnson, leave my taste in clothes to the girls in the class of '84, and my appreciation of good music to the classes of '84 and '85.

I, Paul Johnson, leave my quietness in class to David Paul, my soccer cleats to John Walker, and my Rubik's cube to Chris Heckman.

I, Joseph Kim, leave my brother to Lisa Frankenburg, and Miss September and Miss December to Richard Williams.

I, Chris Lopez, leave my ability to write 30 words per line to William Jockush, who can't keep between the lines on wide ruled paper.

I, Shigeki Makino, leave my love for homework to William Jockush.

I, Julie A. McMillan, leave my "fastness" to Sophia Neely, who doesn't need it for running.

I, Liz Paley, leave the pigmentation in my eye to Mr. McLaughlin so he can have a matched set.

I, Aleya Rahman, leave my rump to Meena Balgopal, my ability to comprehend things to Eugenia Chow, and my eternal diet to Larry Grossman.

I, Michelle Rondon, leave a backache for being so wonderful, my hair to all the unfortunate blondes in the school, and my History class to the class of '85.

I, Monica Rondon, leave my love to Pat, my superior knowledge of Calculus to David Secrest and Pieter Van Es, my high five to Alan H. and Steve R., and my darkroom technique to Richard W.

I, Ian Scharf, leave my profound statements, comb, and suave way with female teachers to Bobs Winter, and my corner jumper to Mike Blossom.

I, Sheryl Stecyck, leave my half of Elections Committee to Peter McDowell, my ability to go to concerts to Tom Leslie, and all my strangeness and "Happy Birthday!"s to Pat McLaughlin.

I, Andrew Stewart, leave Nothing. I have nothing to leave behind.

I, Carol Sudman, leave my femininity to Ella, and my reputation to Emma, who needs a clean start.

I, Amy Swarr, leave my talent for getting sick Sunday night to my sister, who will need it for U.S. History.

I, Dan Teitelbaum, leave my presidency of the Apathy Club to Jordy Kellman, and my taste in clothes to all who are destitute.

I, Cherie Travis, leave lots of enthusiasm and rowdiness to the future cheerleaders, and my giggle to Pat who needs a good laugh.

I, Clarita Uchendu, leave a smile to Becky, Robin, Rebecca, and Dan M. because they've all got class. I leave my ability to "socialize" to Iris, and the title of "gossip queen" to Robin VanEs.

I, Bill Walker, leave my impeccable taste in music to the long-suffering jukebox.

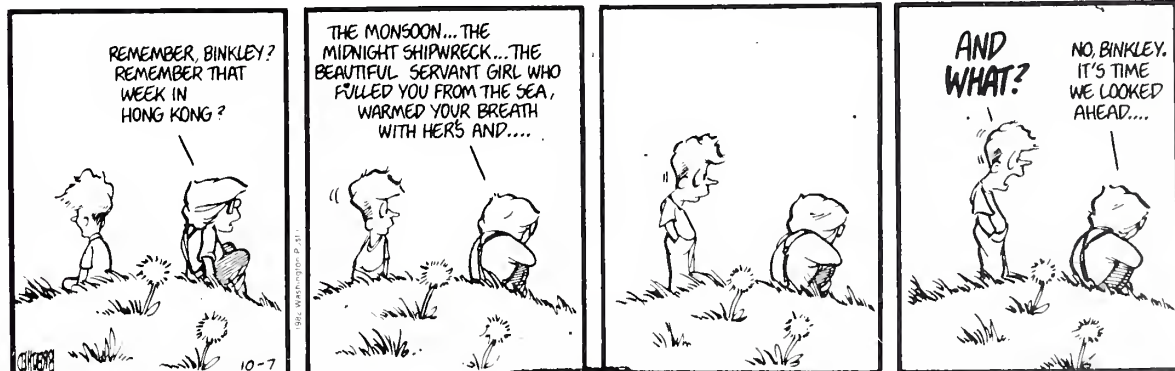

I, Stephanie Wengert, leave my deepest sympathy to future lounge committee chairmen.

I, Mary Magdalene Williams, leave my never ending search for the perfect man, along with my 'fro, to Rebecca Swarr, my fat to Pieter VanEs, and my Izod shirts to Brian H.

I, Naomi Wortis, leave my long blonde hair and all its implications to Sarah Baldwin, and my ability to get organized to Todd Walker.

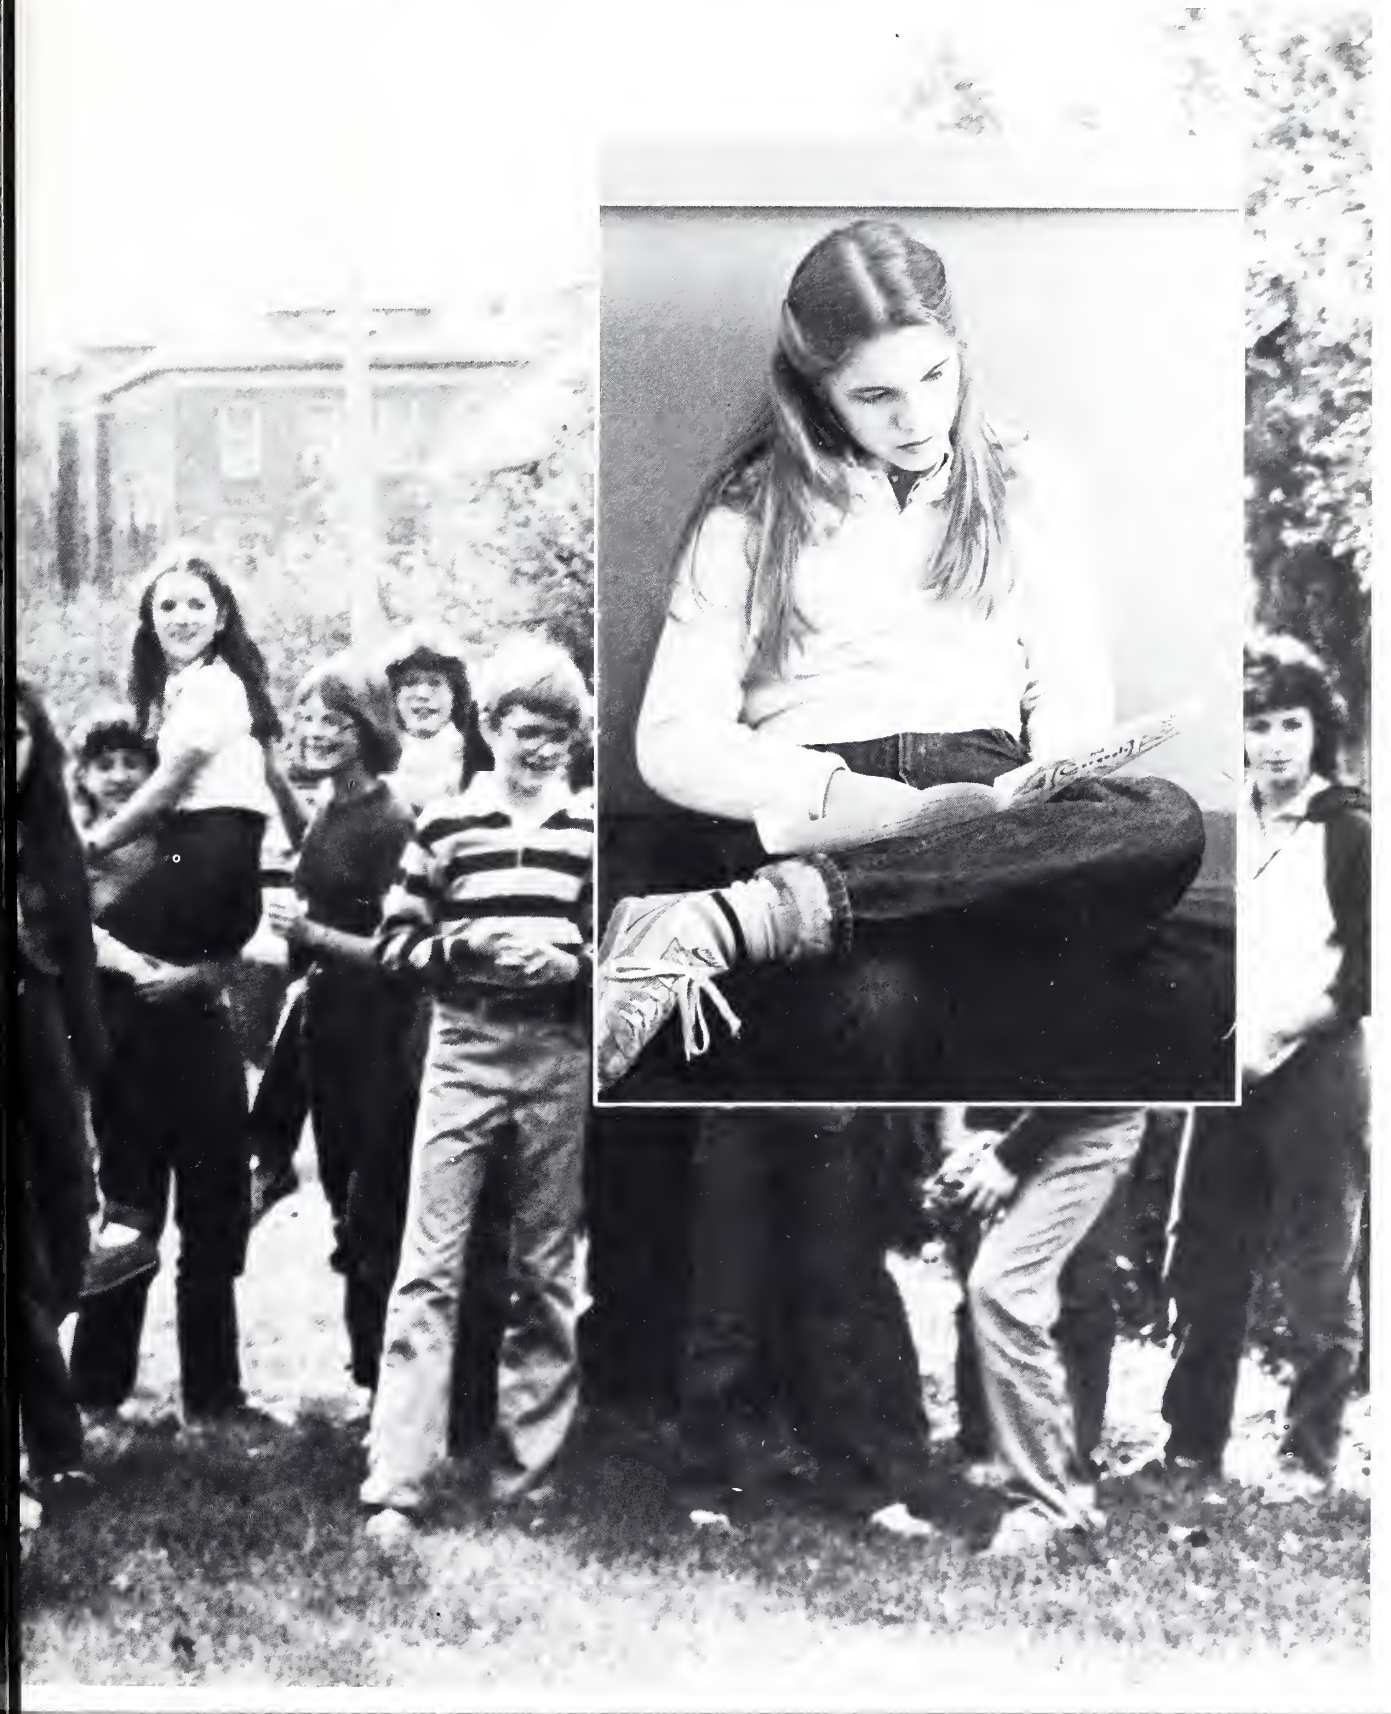

I, Alan Yang, leave my ability to stay healthy during the basketball season to Matt Kolodziej.

I, Marana Chow, have already left.

UNDERCLASSMEN

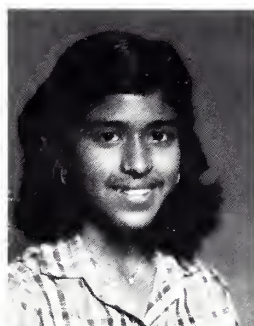

Subfreshmen

The class of 1987's first elected officials were Julie Kimmel (president), Celia Rothenberg (vice president), and Claudio Gratton (secretary-treasurer). In order to prepare for next year's projects, the subbies carried out a candy bar sale. Once again, the subfreshman class was sponsored by the counseling office staff — LuAnn Smith, Judy Shipp, Karen Moon, and Jeff Hollowell.
